Message from the East

Dear Brothers,

We have reached the time of year when our Masonic schedule slows down a bit. I don't care to use the term, "the Lodge goes dark", because we really don't. We may not have formal meetings, but we do have social activities, and get together for the benefit of the Brothers and the Lodge itself.

June's message is of still deeper and more abiding interest, as we say in our ritual. While doing some light reading, I ran across a paper written some time ago by Brother J. Fairbairn Smith, who was raised in Hawick Scotland in 1925, and went on to become a noted Masonic Scholar. Brother Smith has an interesting take on two of our "moveable jewels", and I'd like to share my thoughts on them.

We are first introduced to the rough ashlar and the perfect ashlar in the EA lecture. It is pointed out that the rough ashlar represents the candidate as he first comes into the Lodge while the perfect ashlar represents what we hope to become through our experiences in the Lodge. The terms come from our ancient operative Brothers referring to the stones in their various stages of preparation for the builders.

While we begin our actual Masonic journey as "Rough Ashlars", awaiting the hands and tools of the workmen, there is actually work that has been done prior to that. Brother Smith references a "mould stone", which was a test stone given to a new Mason to demonstrate his skill. Just as our operative Brethren had to test the stones they were choosing for rough ashlars, to make sure they were of the right material, and had the needed qualities to make it worth the time and effort required to turn them into perfect ashlars, so we needed to be tested before we ever entered the Lodge.

The investigating committee serves the function of the Mason testing the "mould stone", the candidate to determine if he has the necessary qualities, if he is truly a good man, to be made better. Once that determination has been made, the candidate is admitted to the Lodge to become a "Rough Ashlar" at the end of the EA degree.

Our operative Brethren passed the rough ashlars on to the Fellowcrafts, to dress and prepare for the hands of the Master Masons. In the Lodge we prepare the candidates through the EA and FC degrees, then on to the Master's degree. While we can knock off the rough edges, and true up the lines and corners a bit the actual work of finishing up a candidate into a truly "Perfect Ashlar" can come only from the hand of each individual Master. The rest of the Lodge can provide guidance and assistance, but it is up to each individual Mason to bring his character straight and true and ready for the hand of the Great Architect.

I look forward to seeing you in Lodge!

Fraternally,
Rick Young

Notes from the Worshipful Master:

My Brothers,

We are at the midpoint of the year. June is the month chosen to honor Fathers. The men who helped shape who we are, and what we've become. Speaking personally, my Father taught me many things. Some were through intentional instruction, but far more were through example. By learning from, and watching him, I learned what I needed to know when I became a Father myself. The precepts for being a good Father are much the same as for being a good Mason. Although nowhere in Lodge proceedings are you expected to express joy and gratitude for the sometimes bizarre choices our kids and grandkids make regarding Father's Day presents. As with Mother's Day, we should all make the time to honor the presence, or memory of our Fathers.

June also contains Flag Day, set aside to honor the symbol of our nation. The Stars and Stripes were officially adopted on June 14th, 1777. The flag was celebrated sporadically over the years until President Wilson formally proclaimed June 14th to be "Flag Day" in 1916. In 1949 President Harry Truman (one of our more famous Brothers) signed an Act of Congress designating June 14th of each year as "Flag Day" (it is not, however, a National Holiday).

It's with a bit of sadness that I note that June also brings the time when our Lodge goes dark. While we have no regular communications for the next two months, we do have some activities planned. I look forward to our Lodge cookout, and the other activities. I hope to see you there.

Fraternally

Notes from the Senior Warden:

Greetings Brethren,

As we had no degree program in May, I thought this month a more general topic would be appropriate. It might be interesting to explore the topic of Masonic wages.

During the start of every communication the Senior Warden pledges to pay the craft their wages. However there is one condition, the wages must be due to them. What are the wages and what makes them due? As speculative Masons we are taught that our wages are not corn, wine or oil but Masonic Light. That light is paid to us in every regular communication meeting, ritual degree communication, DLI, GLI, and Grand Lodge event. But what must we do to earn those wages? Those wages are earned just by showing up! The more Masonic ritual events I attend the more Masonic light, and wages, I receive. I have never attended a Masonic ritual event without picking up a new lesson.

We are blessed with a great Lodge with a very active brotherhood. Still we have room at every communication for more brothers to attend and so receive their wages. Put more simply; the more we put into Masonry, the more we get from Masonry. If you may have gotten out of the habit of regular Lodge attendance, please make the effort to attend more events. At our May communication we enjoyed a great program on music and Masonic Light by Brother Rigil Abellanosa. Worshipful Brother Rick Young has a full schedule of programs set for our coming meetings. We also have many opportunities for brother to serve on our committees. So we hope to see you at the lodge receiving your due wages!

Also please don't forget to show the ladies in your family the enclosed circular on our first Ladies Paint Night coming up during our September Communication. A splendid time should be had by all.

Fraternally yours,

Larry Vernamonti SW
