Message from the East

Greetings Brethren,
The First Woman Freemason

At this year's Grand Lodge Annual Communication in Atlantic City, NJ, I had the good fortune of meeting and speaking with author, Kathleen Aldworth Foster. She spent a number of years researching the life of Elizabeth St. Leger Aldworth, who she initially thought was an ancestor. Elizabeth Aldworth lived in the 18th Century and was the daughter of Arthur St. Leger, the First Viscount Doneraile of Doneraile, County Cork, Ireland. Arthur St. Leger was a Freemason in Ireland.

Kathleen conducted extensive research on Elizabeth St. Leger Aldworth piecing together whatever historical data she could find. In the end, however, after exhausting all the information she could discover, Kathleen decided to write a historical fiction, which has been defined as "taking the factual record as far as it is known, using that as scaffolding, and then letting imagination build the structure that fills in those things that we can never find out for sure."

The common belief is that a masonic meeting was taking place at a lodge room at Elizabeth's family home. Elizabeth had fallen asleep nearby and when awakened, she eavesdropped on the secret meeting. When she was discovered, a discussion ensued as to what was to become of her and apparently death was considered an option. Fortunately, for Elizabeth, a decision was made to make her a Freemason, who would then be bound to keep the secrets of the craft.

According to the author, "Today, there are thousands of active female Freemasons in offshoot organizations around the world. One of them, Le Droit Humain, named its first lodge after her." The Droit Humain is a "mixed-sex lodge" and has approximately 32,000 members in more than 60 countries around the world. It was cofounded by a Freemason raised at the Grand Lodge of France named Georges Martin. Could the apparent popularity of "mixed-sex" lodges warrant consideration by Grand Lodges in the United States in order to offset declining membership rolls?

The apron worn by Elizabeth Aldworth is on display at the Provincial Grand Lodge of Munster in the City of Cork, Ireland.

Notes from the Worshipful Master:

As my term of master of Medford Lodge comes to a close, I would like to express my gratitude for the opportunity to lead this historic lodge. I have learned much about the inner working of a Freemason lodge and have benefitted greatly through this experience. I believe that it is only when an officer reaches and completes the master's chair that the profound logic and genius of the Masonic process is revealed.

A successful term as Worshipful Master is dependent on the support of dedicated past masters, who made themselves available to me by lending a hand and providing guidance when needed. I am grateful to RW Jeremiah Phillips, who is instrumental in the production and quality of the Trestle Board. He also helped coordinate the Table Lodge and coordinated the audiovisual presentations. I also wish to especially thank WB Dave Carvin for his confidence in me when it counted.

I am truly grateful to all the officers, who demonstrated their commitment to Medford Lodge through their initiative and hard work, such as, the completion of a number of projects like the renovation of our dining hall that was spearheaded by Br. Rudolph Hatala. All the officers took responsibility for a number of essential duties benefitting the Lodge, such as, coordinating meals, paying the bills, general administration, fixing things, and helping others. My sincerest thanks to Br. Abellanosa, Br. Christine, Br. Hatala, Br. Duffy, Br. Beamer, Br. Massey, Br. Chadwick, Br. Diamond, Br. Mehta, Br. Cannistraci, WB O'Brien, and RW Black III. And a special thank you to our Tyler WB Hicks!!! Best of luck with your recovery.

Also, our thanks to all the speakers at Medford Lodge this term including Br. Sam Davis (George Washington), Br. Robert Devitis (Benjamin Franklin), and Ms. Alisa Dupuy (Martha Washington).

Finally, congratulations to Brother Andrew Hobson and Brother Vincent Pichini from Medford Lodge and to Brother Dominic Caprera from Central Lodge, the newest Master Masons! Also, accolade to the Masonic Kilties for conducting a wonderful second half of the degree!

Please remember to attend the Installation Ceremony for our new Worshipful Master, Rigil Abellanosa, if elected, on December 12, 2022. Dinner starts at 6 PM.

Mason of the Month

Medford Lodge #178

Mason of the Month

(December 2022)

Brother Kent Douglas Neiswender

Where were you born?

I was born in Kansas City, Kansas in 1956. My family moved to various states/cities in search of advanced career paths for my parents which included residing in Kansas City and Topeka, Kansas, Saint Paul, Minnesota, Berwyn Heights, Maryland, Bowie, Maryland and Arlington, Virginia. I married in 1983 and moved from Arlington, Virginia to Greenbelt, Maryland then relocated to Lawrenceville, New Jersey finally ending up at my current residence in Mount Laurel, New Jersey.

What was your current / last occupation?

My current occupation is a 38-year employee with the NJ Division of Fire Safety within the NJ Department of Community Affairs as the New Jersey State Training Director. I provide administrative oversight authority over the training and credentialing of the New Jersey fire service and fire code enforcement personnel which includes the supervision of 13 full-time employees working through two state offices, one Kean University office and the credentialing operations of the county fire academies and career fire departments. Additional responsibilities include managing the credentialing of all fire protection equipment businesses and contractors in the state. Prior to taking a job in New Jersey I was employed at the International Association of Fire Chiefs in Washington DC working for the Association's General Manager and Director for Operations on a wide range of projects which included assisting with their international conference, tracking federal legislative activities, and writing federal grants. This included topic's relating to emergency management, fire code enforcement and fire department operations.

If you could meet any person (dead or alive), who would it be?

Caesar Augustus originally named Gaius Octavius and known as Octavian, was the first Roman emperor. His status as the founder of the Roman Empire was revered as one of the greatest leaders in human history. His reign over the roman empire was an incredible time span which changed human civilization. I would enjoy hearing his stories of military campaigns and political gamesmanship. After reading many books on his life I would like to hear what the man himself would have said about his life.

What is your favorite quote?

"Bear with me the hope when I die that the foundations which I have laid for its future government, will stand firm and stable." -Augustus Caesar.

Are there any random facts you can share about yourself with the brethren?

My younger life centered upon two completely different topics: music and community service providing firefighting and emergency medical services (EMS) to my fellow citizens. Both life pursuits were interwoven throughout much of my life. Relating to my passion for music, I became interested in drumming when I was in elementary school and continued this 'hobby' through my early twenties playing in many musical organizations, which later included teaching and judging percussion groups in Maryland and Virginia. Being selected into the Maryland High School Honors Symphonic Band in my high school years, then competing in solo drumming competitions quickly propelled me into higher levels of competition. My life dream was to be the principal percussionist for the Philadelphia Orchestra. As you will read, I later modified my music ambitions to pursue a full-time career in the fire service working for the State of New Jersey.

During my continued pursuits to gain further musical enrichment in percussion and music in general, brought me to a pivotal point in my life when I decided to play with the Crossmen Junior Drum and Bugle Corps from Pennsylvania as a snare drummer, which included national touring which promoted international competitions at national and regional competitions sponsored through Drum Corps International (DCI), where I was a finalist in 1977 and 1978. From those music experiences I began to actively write competitive music, teaching high school marching bands, giving individual percussion lessons, which later led to being asked to be a music judge in various band associations primarily located on the east coast. This led me to being selected to judge nationally through U.S. Bands and judging national and state band championship competitions in the captions of music analysis and percussion. I was accepted and requested by many national music educators to judge their bands in high profile national competitions. The main reason I continue to enjoy this hobby is I enjoy interacting with the young musicians and giving something back to each musical student to enrich their music life experience.

As to my second life passion in firefighting and EMS, after turning 16 years of age I joined the Bowie Volunteer Fire Department in Bowie, Maryland as a junior member, because one of my best friends joined and he asked me to join with him. Within six months my best friend's father was transferred to another state and my best friend moved out of Maryland. I was devastated, but instead of quitting the fire department I decided to stay and find my path. I enjoyed firefighting and the close bonding with the other fire department members. A brotherhood which I find is remarkably like masonry. I was trained as a firefighter and later emergency medical technician within Prince Georges County Maryland when I decided to enroll in my local community college in fire science, then transferred to the University of Maryland, College Park, MD into a double major: Fire Science and Urban Studies. In 1980 I graduated with a four-year degree then was immediately hired by the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) in Washington DC. I worked directly with the General Manager and Director of Operations to assist with their International Conference, grant writing, and to track federal legislative bills which were going before various congressional technical committees which could impacted the fire service. After four years with the IAFC I applied to a job announcement with the newly created New Jersey Bureau of Fire Safety. I accepted a job offer and started my new position in February 1985. My initial job duties were to implement the NJ fire code statewide and enhance code enforcement systems managed through the NJ Department of Community Affairs. I am convinced that through this effort which included the dedication of many incredible individuals throughout my time with the now Division of Fire Safety, lives and property have been saved. One center theme to me is that I like to help people, enriching their lives and helping them in times of personal hardship. Extending my hand to help them up from their life challenges.

What keeps you engaged and active with the lodge?

The close bonding and brotherhood were evident from the moment I walked into the door of the Lodge. The friendliness of the masons was warm and compassionate. A true natural presence which fostered well-being and mentored me to strive in the light to be a better man ... a better mason. Through the first three levels of masonry, I was struck by the symbolism and relativity to current life and world challenges. This connectivity to the past, present, and future life meaning is what interests me in masonry fostered through the Medford Lodge and its distinguished brethren.
